

Celebrating the Miccosukee

By Thomas Lockyear, Manager, Museum of the Everglades

Museum of the Everglades recently collaborated with the Miccosukee Tribe of Indians to create an exhibit sharing and celebrating their history.

The exhibit, entitled WE ARE STILL HERE, features a collection of striking rare images and artifacts that bring the powerful stories of the Miccosukee Tribe to life: their painful past, their poignant path to Federal recognition, and their modern-day efforts to preserve and protect the Everglades.

Two short, professionally produced videos exploring aspects of the Miccosukee culture have also been added to the selections available in the museum's theater area for the duration of the exhibit.

The opening reception, held on January 26th, was well attended by both local residents of the greater Everglades area and members of the Miccosukee Tribe and Native American community.

Friends of Museum of the Everglades' tasty hors d'oeuvres were augmented by traditional Indian Fry Bread courtesy of the Miccosukee Tribal Government and delivered by Sister Robin Haines-Merrill (who drove from Ft. Lauderdale!) of the Love the Everglades Movement.

The exhibit took on even greater dimension during our annual See Museum, p7

EVG School Update

Dr. Cherie Allison Principal, EVG, Everglades City School

Everglades City School is proud to announce its partnership with Lorenzo Walker Technical college for continuing education. EVG is having a career expo on March the 28th from 4-7 pm to learn more about the exciting prospects of having classes in Aviation Mechanics, Welding Technology or Marine Service Technologies. If you are interested in any of these opportunities, please contact the school and give them your contact information and which of the programs you would be interested in attending right here at Everglades City School!

Our 7th grade class at EVG was part of the district wide initiative – College, Career and Life Ready Experience.

The purpose is to promote student interest in pursuing post-secondary education and to assist in ongoing career exploration and planning.

Prior to the trip to Florida Gulf Coast University, students completed a career interest assessment and viewed a series of video workshop modules that included high school planning, financial aid and scholarships, career and technical education opportunities, college majors and campus life, and high school opportunities in the arts.

Students visited a dormitory, the library, student center, sports facilities, and the College of Business where they were given a mini lecture on what the stock market is all about in front of the Stock ticker display!

EVG District All-Star | February

We're thrilled to share that one of our very own EVG School students has been selected as this month's CCPS District All-Star! Join us in celebrating their outstanding achievement as they shine among the best student-athletes in the Collier County Public Schools District.

Update from City Hall

By Michael McComas Everglades City Council

Mayor Grimm nominated and the City Council confirmed the appointment of Diana Potter Valdes to fill the unexpired term of Josh Minton. Ms. Valdes, a lifetime resident of Everglades City, will serve until the next election in 2025. Council approved a resolution amending our Grant Policies and Procedures. We also, hopefully for the last time, extended Ordinance 2023-20 Temporary Moratorium on Additional Wastewater Treatment Plant Connections. By a 4-1 vote council approved Ordinance 2024-2 amending Ordinance 2022-04 Golf Carts, to comply with State and County regulations.

An agreement for Professional Engineering Survey Services with Agnoli Barber & Brundage was approved. This is the first selection from the 4 Engineering firms approved by City Council. Two replats were unanimously approved by Council after review by Planning and Zoning.

City Attorney Zach Lombardo explained the need for us to pursue legal action against Verizon in small claims court for an ever growing bill for services we are not receiving and after repeated efforts we are incapable of terminating.

City reports: Councilman Tony Pernas explained the outcome of the February 1st meeting with the Corps of Engineers re maintenance dredging of the Barron River and disposition options for the spoil. Councilwoman Wells discussed the possible retention of a permitting firm and it was agreed to invite the firm, Safe Built, to the March Council meeting so that all members can ask questions. Councilman McComas discussed the effect that Mangrove intrusion into populated areas of the city was creating including increased mosquito infestation.

Judge Rules Against 404 Permitting

By John Nipper

On February 15th, Judge Randolph Moss, overseeing the U.S. District Court in Washington, D.C., made a significant ruling regarding Florida's "404 program," which aims to protect federal wetlands. This decision had a profound impact on Florida's environmental conservation efforts.

Judge Moss's ruling invalidated the Environmental Protection Association (EPA's) "assumption decision" and its approval of Florida's assumption application. While Florida's state wetlands regulations and permitting authority remained intact under Environmental Resource Permits (ERPs), this ruling dealt a blow to federal wetland protection endeavors.

Judge Moss argued that the EPA and US Fish and Wildlife Service had made a mistake by applying Section 7 of the Endangered Species Act to the Florida program. This section, which provides protection against incidental harm to endangered species, was incorrectly used to safeguard against incidental impacts within the state program. Moss viewed the creation of a "Programmatic Incidental Take Statement," crafted collaboratively between the Service and the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission, as a significant flaw that couldn't be easily corrected.

In his 97-page Opinion, Moss acknowledged that a small percentage of permits issued under the program could potentially harm endangered species, but he also recognized that most permits posed no such threat. Despite this, Moss left open the possibility for a limited exception to his ruling for this subset of permits, provided the EPA presented a specific request outlining the parameters for such consideration. The timeline for these discussions and the potential for an appeal from the EPA remained uncertain.

Meanwhile, Moss's decision had immediate effects on bureaucratic processes, effectively pausing the processing of all federal wetland permits pending with the Florida Department of Environmental Protection (FDEP). ### Tour Everglades City & Chokoloskee

Discover the charm of Everglades City and Chokoloskee by walking, biking, or driving with our tour map, offering a fascinating exploration of local history and uncovering hidden gems along the way.

Stone Crabbing in Everglades has roots in the '60s, with pioneers like Totch Brown. Every October 5th at midnight, crabbers deploy 1,000 to 5,000 traps in the Gulf of Mexico, strategically placed for the season's start on October 15th. They endure a three-hour journey from the dock to depths of 20 to 150 feet, far from Everglades City, making it a complex task.

Everglades City School, a fixture since 1895, faced challenges, from cyclones to hurricanes. By 1923, it housed 45 kids with two rooms and teachers. PE meant river swimming, with gator watchers. Serving the town until 1948, the current school, established in 1961, underwent a facelift in '95, showcasing resilience. Go Gators!

Everglades National Park's mangroves display unique "walking" adaptations, expanding into new areas with prop roots. They serve as natural filters, purifying water and supporting diverse wildlife. Thriving in brackish water, they maintain the delicate balance between freshwater and saltwater ecosystems.

The Old Collier County Courthouse, a historic twostory concrete structure in Everglades City, Florida, was built in 1926 by Barron Collier, the visionary behind Collier County's development. Reflecting the Classical Revival style, it served as the county courthouse until 1962 when the seat moved to East Naples. Later, it was repurposed as Everglades City Hall.

The Collier County Sheriff's Office was created on July 7, 1923, and William Riley "W.R." Maynard was named the first Sheriff of Collier County. The County Jail was located on the southwest corner of the circle and included living accommodations for the sheriff and his family on the upper floor. The footprint of the jail can still be seen in the parking lot.

Founded by Barron Gift Collier in 1923 near the Barron River before relocating near the Rod & Gun Club in 1926, the Bank of Everglades played a pivotal role in Everglades City's development. It served as the sole bank of Collier County until 1949 and survived Hurricane Donna's flooding in 1960 without ever being robbed. Listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1974, the building was gifted to the Everglades Society for Historic Preservation in 2021. It is now undergoing extensive renovation to become the recognized Everglades Area Visitor Center.

The Storter homestead took in paying guests for fishing & hunting until the Rod and Gun Club was acquired by Barron

G. Collier in 1922. Over the years, it hosted international dignitaries, U.S. presidents, and notable figures like Ernest Hemingway, John Wayne, and Jack Nicklaus. Today, maintaining its Old Florida charm, the club offers cottages for rent, a dining room overlooking the Barron River, and access to fishing in the river and Everglades.

Explore history at the Museum of the Everglades, originally a commercial laundry by Barron Collier in 1927. Serving as the region's first County seat, it witnessed key developments like the Tamiami Trail construction in 1923. Restored to its 1920s appearance, the museum offers exhibitions like The Storter Collection, showcasing the region's early history with artifacts and pictures.

Everglades Community Church, established in 1926, is a historic landmark in Everglades City. Completed in April 1940 on land donated by Barron Gift Collier, it played a vital role in the community during the Collier company town era. Meeting Collier's conditions, including non-denominational status, it was dedicated on May 5th, 1940 and was Designated as historically preserved in 2007.

The Old Railway Depot in Everglades City, constructed in 1928, served as a vital transportation hub during the area's heyday in the 1920s. Originally part of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, it facilitated the transport of essential commodities like tomatoes and cypress. Featured in the 1957 film "Wind Across the Everglades," it later became the Everglades Seafood Depot Restaurant. Despite recent challenges and calls for preservation, including from Mayor Howie Grimm Jr. and the Everglades Society for Historical Preservation, its fate remains uncertain, adding urgency to its ongoing preservation efforts. Historically preserved in 2007.

Built in the late 1930s by the Collier family, the Everglades Airpark began with a 1,000-foot paved strip, bustling with Air Force, Civil Air Patrol, and private pilot activity. President Harry Truman dedicated Everglades National Park here in 1947. Despite Hurricane Donna's 1960 devastation, the Colliers' legacy thrived, leading to Collier County's acquisition in MulletRapper.com March 2 - March 15, 2024 | Page 7

1968. Today, as an eco-tourism hub, we invite global vacationers to explore the Everglades' wonders. Visit to watch planes, inquire about lessons, and marvel at our rich history and natural beauty. Fun fact: We're the second smallest airport in Florida.

The Ernest Hamilton Thomas offers standing

Observation Tower. erected in 1984 by Mitchell, visitors stunning perspective, 75 feet tall with 108 steps leading to panoramic views. From this vantage point, one can admire the vast expanse of mangroves, Chokoloskee Island, the Everglades, and the picturesque Ten Thousand Islands. Birdwatchers may catch sight of various species, including the elegant Roseate Spoonbill.

Island. Chokoloskee steeped in history since the late 1800s, is connected to the mainland by a causeway built in 1956. Renovation of the Chokoloskee Bridge began in 2007 and was completed in 2017. The new bridge meets modern standards, offering increased width and height while preserving vital seawalls. The island's rich history, including tales of notorious characters and an era of moonshine and plume hunting, is intertwined with this vital causeway.

Located Chokoloskee Island's southern tip, Smallwood Store has embodied Ted Smallwood's vision since 1906. Once a hub for Seminole Indians, fishermen, and farmers arriving by various vessels, it now stands as an immersive museum showcasing the area's rich history. Its exhibits capture the enduring spirit of pioneers, reflecting old Florida's resilience and allure.

Visit the Everglades Visitors Center at the Glades Building.

Originally built by Jan and Tony Brock of Glades Realty after Hurricane Donna in 1960, the building underwent extensive renovations by Craig and Bonnie Woodward in 2019. In February 2021, part of the building became the Everglades Visitor Center, offering insights into the area's rich history. Explore the wonders of the Everglades and 10,000 Islands with information, maps, event updates, and knowledgeable staff to guide your experience.

So far, we've had a few eager folks express interest. One's already gotten their hands dirty helping, others have pitched in with supplies.

We're hopeful that more folks will find the time to come down and be a part of something truly special.

Right now, we're busy getting ready for the next big step: planting more vegetable seeds! They'll be popping up in the soil before you know it, adding a splash of color and a whole lot of flavor to our little corner of Everglades City.

With the help of friends and family she offered samples of delicious Fry Bread fresh out of the pan to hundreds of visitors over the course of the event. Several Miccosukee artists also demonstrated crafts and offered authentic Native jewelry and patchwork clothing for sale.

More than 1000 guests came through the museum to explore the exhibit and learn more about Miccosukee history and culture during the festival.

This month's Third Thursday talk on February 15th was delivered by William "Popeye" Osceola, the Secretary of the Miccosukee Tribal Business Council. A former teacher at the Tribal School on the Reservation, Popeye added a deep, meaningful perspective to Native history for the standing-room-only crowd.

Where was the First Bank of Collier County FL?

By Reverend Dr Bob N. Wallace Everglades Community Church

Right here in Everglades City. The first bank in Collier County was built by Barron Gift Collier, who envisioned an iconic landmark building as the home for the Bank of Everglades. From 1927 the Bank remained in the present building until 1962 when the business relocated to Immokalee forty-two miles to the Northwest of Everglades City.

Just as the Eiffel Tower was an iconic landmark for Paris, so was the Bank of Everglades to Everglades City. Barron

Collier built several other buildings to serve his employees, which included a laundry building, a post office, a telegraph, a bakery, the Everglades Inn, administration offices, a department store, a pharmacy, and a restaurant. The bank today will soon become a Visitor Center.

And the laundry is now The Museum of the Everglades located a block from the bank building at 105 West Broadway Avenue, Everglades City. It's part of the Collier County Museums system and is devoted to displaying local history from early Native American times to the present. The museum's permanent and rotating exhibits provide visitors with an in-depth look at over 2,000 years of human history in the area and tell the stories of those adventurous enough, and tenacious enough. to settle "Florida's Last Frontier".

In 1979, the bank building was purchased by Reba "Rusty" Rupsis, who published the Everglades Echo newspaper in the building until 1990. After that, Patty Flick restored it as a Bed & Breakfast. There were several leaseholders for the B&B until it closed in 2017. The building has remained vacant since that time and has deteriorated somewhat.

A movement to restore the original building of the Bank of Everglades in Everglades City began March 2021 when Naples resident and owner Robert Flick gifted the building to The Everglades Society for Historic Preservation to restore the historic landmark. Flick was an extra in the 1958 film, "Wind Across the Everglades" that starred Burl Ives, Christopher Plummer, and Gypsy Rose Lee. The movie plot followed a game warden who had arrived in Florida in the hopes of enforcing conservation laws. He soon found himself up against Cottonmouth, the leader of a fierce group of bird poachers.

The Everglades Society for Historic Preservation, a nonprofit, has been working for the past three years applying for grants and raising funds to rehabilitate the historic building. With a $3 million federal grant ESHP is now working with an architectural firm who has the experience and expertise in historic preservation to complete the project. Learn more about the project at ESHP.org.

Marya Repko, ESHP secretary and author of some fifteen regional history books, says facilities will be updated to meet accessibility requirements, including the installation of an elevator. Envisioned downstairs is a visitor's center with plans to turn the original bank vault into a room where the classic "Wind Across the Everglades" plays on a continuous loop. The second-story rooms include a historical library, conference room, and offices.

"We're unique in Everglades City," says Repko. "There aren't many villages that look today like they did 100 years ago."

The original goal was to unveil a fully restored bank building on May 8, 2023, the centennial anniversary of the founding of Collier County. "I had a dream it'd be open by then, but that didn't happen," Repko added. The commitment to preserving Florida's renovation of the building is now in the design stage with an expected completion date late 2025.

Celebrating Art and Conservation

At this year's Alliance for Florida's National Parks Annual Wine & Wildlife event, Paul Arsenault, a noted Naples artist, was awarded The Clyde Butcher: A Better Florida Award.

With over five decades of artistic experience and a profound connection to nature, Paul's work deeply resonates with audiences.

Born in Montreal and raised near the sea in Hingham, MA, Paul's artistic journey led him to Florida in 1974, where he has since made Naples his home.

Throughout his career, Paul has embarked on painting expeditions across the globe, capturing the essence of coastal communities and diverse landscapes. His paintings, infused with passion for storytelling and history, create immersive experiences for viewers.

Additionally, Paul's commitment to giving back to the community is evident through annual fundraising shows benefiting various nonprofit organizations dedicated to health, environmental protection, historic preservation.

This event pays homage to the legacy of Clyde Butcher, celebrating individuals who embody a deep natural beauty and heritage.

Guava Tips

Guava, with its delightful and distinctively sweet flavor, is a tropical fruit that captivates the taste buds of many. Often described as a fusion of strawberry and pear, its sweetness varies depending on the particular variety. For newcomers eager to delve into the world of guavas, here are some helpful tips to navigate your selection and savor this tropical treat to the fullest.

Tips:

- Green guavas, will ripen on your counter-top.
- Every part of the guava is edible the rind, flesh, and seeds.
- Look for ones that smell sweet.
- Choose by texture first, then color. They should be somewhat tender when gently squeezed, like an avocado. The rind can be yellow, white, or pinkish-red.

Studies suggest that guava may help lower blood sugar levels. It's rich in antioxidants and potassium, guava promotes heart health. With 12% of the recommended daily intake of fiber it also aids in digestion. Packed with vitamin C, guavas can give your immune system a boost.

Whether as a snack, dessert ingredient, or addition to savory dishes, guavas are sure to add a touch of tropical sweetness to your life.

Prized pink-tagged bass are swimming in these Florida waters!

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission's (FWC) TrophyCatch program has deployed bright pink research tags in bass across five waters throughout the state: the Northwest Winter Haven Chain of Lakes, Lake Lochloosa, Lake Beauclair, Lake Okeechobee and Porter Lake. Each of the tags is on a trophy bass weighing 8 pounds or more. Designed to provide valuable data about bass movements and growth rates, these conspicuous pink tags offer one other unique advantage: special prizing for the angler who catches, cuts and properly reports the tag.

"Seeing a flash of pink as you land that giant bass will make an extraordinary experience even more memorable," said Tom Graef, Director of FWC's Division of Freshwater Fisheries Management. "TrophyCatch data also shows us that anyone fishing these waters might be the lucky one to catch a trophy - and a pink tag!"

Prizing is still being finalized and will be announced soon. To claim their reward, anglers must cut and keep the pink tag, and document the bass at TrophyCatch.com. An integral requirement of the program is that all bass must be released alive to allow other anglers the opportunity to experience a lifetime catch.

For more information about the TrophyCatch program, email KP Clements at KP.Clements@MyFWC.com.

Fishbrain is the ultimate tool for anglers, offering access to over 14 million verified catches to help you discover new fishing spots in your area. With features like depth maps, contour lines, and underwater structures, you can strategically plan your next fishing trip. Connect with over 15 million anglers, share your catches, and access fishing forecasts to optimize your time on the water. Plus, Fishbrain provides up-to-date fishing regulations. Download today.
